Other authors argue, however, that 'it is not [the question of] the difference of opinions [...] but rather one of the worldviews' (Migdalski 1998: 271). Yet 'hasty conclusions should not be drawn from that' (idem: 272). Other authors represent different position, however (Berger, Luckmann, 1983). This view is shared by representatives of other sciences (Iksiński et al., 1991) and sociological schools (Rheingold 2000; Castells 2007; van Dijk 2010; Nowak, Kowalski, 2012).

$$I_{ij} = \frac{P_i P_j}{d_{ij}^2}, \quad (1)$$

where:

- I_{ij} – interaction between i and j ,
- P_i – population in i ,
- P_j – population in j ,
- d_{ij} – distance between i and j .

 The table should have the outline and lines separating columns; lines separating rows where necessary;
 -headings – centred;
 -side text – left-oriented;
 -text in cells – left-oriented;
 -numbers – right-oriented;
 - numbers must be given with the same accuracy (the same number of decimal places);
 - data must be entered on the same level.
